Purpose:	Queen Elizabeth II National Trust is an independent statutory organisation and a registered charity. It was set up in 1977 to 'encourage and promote, for the benefit of New Zealand, the provision, protection, preservation and enhancement of open space'.  Open Space (as described in the Queen Elizabeth II National Trust Act 1977) means any area of land or body of water that serves to preserve or to facilitate the preservation of any landscape of aesthetic, cultural, recreational, scenic, scientific, or social interest or value. Our core objective is to secure long-term protection of natural and cultural features on private land with covenants and we partner with landowners to achieve this objective. We act as the perpetual trustee to ensure these covenants remain protected forever.  Our strategy sees us collaborating with existing and newly established stakeholder networks, communities, and landowners to increase the area of high value land under robust legal protection. We provide technical expertise to support our people and projects on covenants and across landscapes ensuring that protected values are enhanced.  Regional representatives are responsible for providing an excellent frontline service for QEII National Trust. The contracted services include regular monitoring of registered covenants, assessing and preparing new covenant proposals for approval, and guiding potential covenantors through the covenanting process.
